&gt; EXHIBITION

Santo Sospir

Mauro Restiffe / Jean Cocteau

The Nouveau Musée National de Monaco presents Santo Sospir, an exhibition by the artist Mauro Restiffe, inspired by the house occupied and decorated by Jean Cocteau in Saint-Jean Cap-Ferrat between 1950 and 1962. This silent conversation, orchestrated by Restiffe in the Villa Sauber, is like a cinematographic montage that alternates long shots and close-ups, monumental prints and smaller formats, fostering an embodied vision of the tattooed villa, where a (faceless) self-portrait of the author appears.

> THEATRE

Nous y voilà !

Philippe Torreton recites poems by Ronsard, Baudelaire, Rimbaud... with musical accompaniment by Richard Kolinka, former drummer from the band Téléphone, and musician Aristide Rosier. Without judgement, the poetry invites us to examine our relationship with nature, the exploitation of our planet, and the threat hanging over its future. The actor shows great sensitivity, strength and energy in a very different kind of poetry recital, combining a poet's soul with the age-old wisdom of the Native American peoples.
